ABC Consulting, Inc. performed a structural evaluation to assess the wind damage on this single family home located in Quinton, Virginia. Several trees fell on the house in the beginning of October following a tornado path that ravaged the neighborhood. In summary, this house sustained severe damage due to the large trees falling on the roof. The areas that were mostly affected were the roof, the ceiling, and the exterior walls around the kitchen and living room. The roof structure in this area needed to be removed and replaced. The deck supports, the railing and the steps going up to the deck needed to be replaced.
